The favorite won bandily and Extra beat Fabian for the place.

The second race was a maiden affair, with Adolph II. favorite, Royalist second choice and every one of the others more or less booked.

Maiden races are uninteresting, both from a speculative and any other point of view. Many bookmakers refuse to make books on such events. bookmakers refuse to make booss of school events.

Maid of Thrift, who could not raise a gallop the other day, won handly from the favorites. Windham was third.

There were several favorites in the third race. Marty B. was a slight favorite. Lamar, Quibbler and Discount were all heavily backed and there was only half a point between them and the favorite. Discount got away in front and won handly. Marty B. was second and Dirigo third.

ISPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD. ALBANY, March 24. - The Senate to-day ac epted Saxton's amendments to his Ballot Reform bill.

Briefly stated, the changes provide that certiicates of municipal nominations are to be filed with city clerks, not county clerks; that the number of signers for independent nominations be increased from 1,000 to 3,000 in the State 100 to 250 in Assembly districts, and from 250 to 500 in a county or a Senate district; that the blank ballot be abolished; that party names may be printed on ballots; that 100 instead of 200 ballots be furnished for each 50 voters; that election districts shall contain not over 400 instead of 800 voters, and shall be divided before Aug. 1; that ballot-clerks shall not write their in-thials on a ballot; that voters need not stay three minutes in a booth; that when ballots seem to have been marked for identification

they shall be preserved so that their validity may be examined; that no mark shall be put on paster ballots; and that town ballots may be printed in double columns, and separate ballots for excise towns.

PROPOSED FRENCH POOL LAW

Marty Bergen Reinstated-Was Tug Decker Murdered ?

The question as to whether Monmouth Park will or will not race next season continues to be an all-absorbing topic. The gentlemen connected with the Association are very much depressed in spirit, and are averse to dis-cussing the situation. Already the residents of Monmouth County, realizing that the benefits which they have yearly obtained from the race track people are shipping from their grasp, are beginning to wall and protest against the closing of the race course. They know that their pockets must suffer and all scruples must be set set aside when it comes to the question of the mighty dollar. The situation is far from being clear. Mr. Withers has said that the Park would close its gates. Mr. A. J. Cassatt, President of the Association, said last night that no action had been determined on as yet. He also said :

as yet. He also said:

"Two acts, the intent and purpose of which have been to legalize betting, have been introduced and passed in the New Jersey Assembly. One was during the term of Gov. McClellan and the other during the term of Gov. McClellan and both acts were signed. The first of these acts has been declared unconstitutional by the courts of New Jersey, but the last one has yet to be passed upon by the highest Court in the State. A case that will settle the question of the constitutionality of this act is now before the highest Court, and although it is not a case against the Association, we will see it through. If the Court decides against us, then I do not think there will be racing at Monmouth this Summer, as mether Mr. Withers, Mr. Scott, Mr. Wetmore, Mr. Galway nor imyself wishes to figure as a law-breaker."

It will be seen from the above remark that ing to law, on account of the recent identification of the body of " Fred Evans" as that of It will be seen from the above remark that Mr. Summer cannot tell anything the public there is a faint hope yet. If the Court should decide against the Association, then in all probability the sponge will be thrown up.
